2022 Code Administrator Plan: NZQA's approach, priorities, and activities

- \rightarrow This plan outlines NZQA's 2022 approach, priorities and activities as Code Administrator
- \rightarrow As Code Administrator, we monitor and support education providers to give effect to the Code. For universities, we delegate some of our monitoring responsibilities to Universities New Zealand (UNZ)
- \rightarrow The Code sets out the requirements that education providers must meet for the wellbeing and safety of their tertiary and international learners
- → The new Code, effective 1 January 2022, brings new and strengthened requirements for tertiary education providers
- → Under the new Code, there are no changes for schools that enrol international learners
- → In 2022, NZQA is tailoring its approach to quality assurance of pastoral care under the Code to meet the distinct needs of providers and learners in different sub-sectors

OUR PRIORITIES IN 2022

Promoting the Code

Promoting the Code so that learners, providers, and other stakeholders know the Code

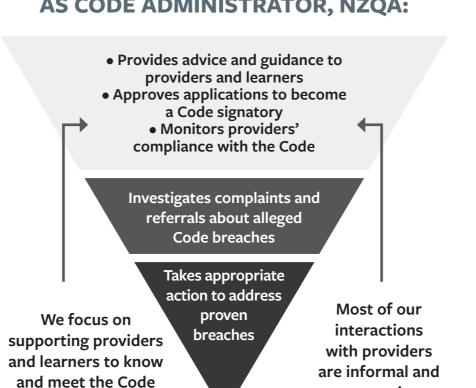

Building capability

Getting alongside providers to build our understanding of current practice, strengths, and areas for development - so we can respond appropriately

Preparing to monitor for impact

Using insights gathered to design risk-based, targeted monitoring from 2023

AS CODE ADMINISTRATOR, NZQA:

published

- → new guidance
- → code-to-code comparison tools
- \rightarrow a gap analysis toolkit delivered

- \rightarrow online information sessions
- → new Code 101 workshops

WE WILL FOCUS ON...

The cornerstones of the Code Areas we know providers and learners are concerned about, \rightarrow Wellbeing and safety including: → Te Tiriti o Waitangi \rightarrow Pastoral care of offshore and

 \rightarrow Learner voice

supportive

→ Whole-of-provider approach

Student accommodation

→ Wellbeing and safety

Te Oranga me Te Haumaru Ākonga earner Wel and Safety

GETTING READY FOR 2022

In 2021, NZQA worked closely with MOE to support the development of the new Code, sharing insights from NZQA's previous activities as Code Administrator of the outgoing pastoral care Codes for international and domestic tertiary students

To support the sector with implementing the new Code, NZQA:

 \rightarrow peak bodies

en	ga	ged
· · · ·	5~2	5~~

- → sector advisory groups
- \rightarrow all tertiary providers in a survey promoted the Code with

- \rightarrow a social media campaign

→ flyers and videos for learners

→ regular updates in Code News

- workplace-based learners
- → Code-appropriate support for learners' mental health
- \rightarrow International student pastoral care including as borders re-open
- → Areas identified in our tertiary provider survey

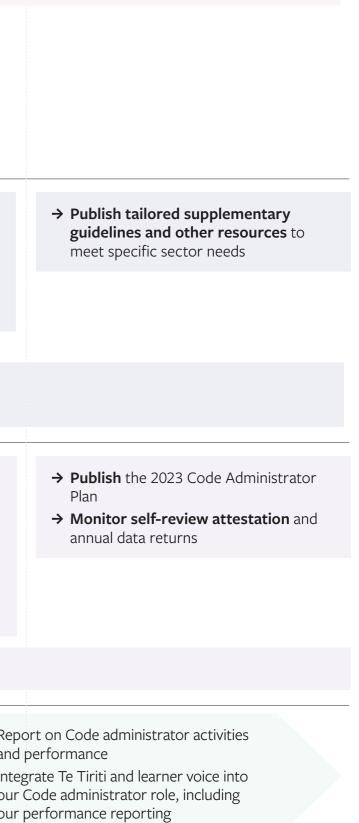

2022 Code Administrator Plan: NZQA's planned activities in 2022

	January – March	April – June	July – September
	Work with learners to understand and respond to learners' information needs and promote the Code to learners
Promoting the Code	 → Launch updated website → Provide a digital toolkit for promoting the Code to learners → Inform learners about complaints processes and the roles of providers, the DRS and NZQA in resolving issues
- `	→ Establish sector advisory groups including learners and providers to inform, guide and support our mahi throughout 2022	 → Seek sector insights on current practice, strengths and areas for development through focus group and workshops, and by gathering provider information → Confirm and prioritise focus area for providers' capability building 	→ Develop tailored supplementary resources in collaboration with the Capability building	 → Provide ongoing direct support, information and advice → Continue to run existing workshops (i.e. Code 101) for providers, learners and other stakeholders
			er stakeholders
			 Commence informal monitoring to gather insights in confirmed priority focus areas, including building blocks for best practice exemplars and → Continue to run existing workshops (i.e → Confirm due dates for providers in each sub-sector to attest to having 	. Code 101) for providers, learners and othe	→ Commence informal monitoring to gather insights in confirmed priority focus areas, including building blocks
Monitoring	 → Confirm due dates for providers in each sub-sector to attest to having completed self-review against the Code → Confirm how the Code will be included in 	. Code 101) for providers, learners and othe	 Commence informal monitoring to gather insights in confirmed priority focus areas, including building blocks for best practice exemplars and performance indicators Include the Code in EERs and Targeted Evaluations from 1 July 202

Te Oranga me Te Haumaru Ākonga Learner Wellbeing and Safety

October – December

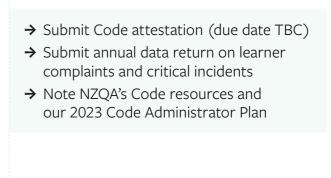

2022 Code Administrator Plan: What it means for providers

	January – March	April – June	July – September
All tertiary providers	Continue to review, update, and improve your practice to ensure it meets the Code and identify opportunities to improve
	 → Note and use NZQA's digital toolkit to promote the Code to your learners → Note the self-review attestation due date for your sub-sector → Note the new process for reporting complaints and critical incident data to NZQA 	Participate in NZQA workshops and focus groups to share your insights
	(Non-university providers only) If you have student accommodation, be ready for our continued in-person monitoring. This will inclu interviews with staff and student residents. The focus is on building our understanding of practice
Private Training Establishments (PTEs)	Respond to NZQA requests for information about Code–related policies, processes and practices to help inform our capability building
Te Pūkenga	Continue engaging with NZQA to ensure that quality assurance of pastoral care under the Code aligns meaningfully with Te Pūkenga's emerging strategies and operating models for learner wellbeing and safety
Wānanga	Continue engagement with NZQA to share insi incorporate quality assurance of pastoral care the kaupapa of Te Hono o Te Kahurangi		account in EERs and Targeted Evaluation from 1 July 2022. The focus will be on Code, especially the Cornerstones of t
PTEs and Māori PTEs under Te Hono o Te Kahurangi	Continue engagement with NZQA to share insi incorporate quality assurance of pastoral care the kaupapa of Te Hono o Te Kahurangi
Universities	In the university sector, NZQA expects to delegate to UNZ some Code Administrator responsibilities, for monitoring universities' pastoral ca have a consistent experience of the Code for providers and learners, while allowing UNZ to tailor its monitoring to the university sector Further to the activities noted for all tertiary providers above, universities need to respond to UNZ's Code monitoring requirements, includi
Schools	 There are no changes for school Code signatories, so Code monitoring continues "status quo" → ERO continues to monitor pastoral care practice in schools, focusing on quality self-review → Schools can continue to engage with NZQA, including through peak body SIEBA, to share insights and inform our provision of information, advice and capability building

Te Oranga me Te Haumaru Ākonga Learner Wellbeing and Safety

October – December

clude reviewing information, site visits, and ready for the Code to be taken into ations, including in Te Hono o Te Kahurangi, on your review of practice against the new f the Code, and the changes made re practice. The objective of the delegation is to ng for student accommodation

Submit self-review attestation to NZQA (1 December 2022)