

Programme Guidance for the suite of New Zealand qualifications in Māori Public Health

New Zealand Certificate in Kaupapa Māori Public Health
(Level 4) [Ref: 2870]

Qualification outcomes	Programme guidance
Programmes may include knowledge and skills in the following key focus areas:
1 Demonstrate appropriate communication skills when working with whānau. Credits 15	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The principles of Whānau Ora and their application within a KMPH context. - Whanaungatanga in a Kaupapa Māori Public Health context. - The benefits to whānau from hapū, iwi and community population approaches which are aligned with the social indicators and the principles of Te Oranga. - Strategies that address the impacts and minimise risks that hinder an improved status for whānau, hapū and iwi wellbeing. - Effective evaluation models and their application to whānau, hapū, iwi and/or community initiatives. - Current population Māori health statistics. - Key policy/strategies and legislation relevant to KMPH. - Initiatives and/or projects targeted at specific audiences e.g. whānau, hapū, iwi.
2 Identify a range of strategies and initiatives that aim to improve the well-being of Māori. Credits 10	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Social indicators and the potential for Māori participation. - Strategies that support whānau leadership in the implementation of initiatives that maximise whānau interaction with their natural environment. - Hapū, iwi and community/government organisations that increase Māori opportunities for greater potential for participation and decision making. - Whānau driven hui with appropriate agencies that provide access to relevant environmental information and legislation e.g. whānau land trusts, whānau papakainga requirements, health protection compliances. - The concept of kaitiakitanga, or guardianship.
3 Participate in the development of kaupapa Māori initiatives that prioritise Māori health and well-being. Credits 10	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The role of Māori, community and government institutions as necessary supports for initiatives/activities. - The social indicators/determinants within Te Oranga principles and their relation to Mauriora principles.

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Culturally responsive methods of information collation and analysis. - Te reo and tikanga. - Successful health promotional initiatives and/or activities targeting Māori. - Hui facilitation that supports and promotes whānau access, active involvement and leadership in te ao Māori, e.g. access to cultural events, wānanga, and hapū and iwi initiatives.
		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Data and information regarding the status of Māori feeling secure in their cultural identity e.g. census, tribal reports. - Māori concepts that reflect the principles of Waiora. - Tikanga associated with the conservation, preservation and/or protection of the natural environment within a KMPH context. - The significance of prominent hapū or iwi landmarks within the rohe. - Key historical events in the rohe that are significant to iwi or hapū.
4	Work collaboratively with Māori in the development of culturally appropriate health promotion resources. Credits 10	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The principles of Toi Ora and Te Mana Whakahaere. - The connectedness of Toi Ora to Whānau Ora and Te Oranga principles. - Key government Public Health policies and strategies relevant to the principles of Toi Ora. - The risk factors that challenge whānau, hapū and iwi in achieving Toi Ora. - Responsive approaches to promotional communications on healthy lifestyles. - Relevant evidence for planning health promotion activities with whānau, hapū, iwi and community that minimises the harms and risks. - Technology that assists in the promotion of healthcare issues to whānau Māori in a culturally appropriate manner. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Rangatiratanga in the context of Te Mana Whakahaere. - The importance of balance of Te Mana Whakahaere principles and the role of a KMPH practitioner. - Whānau leadership, autonomy and self-determination. - Kaupapa Māori Public Health models. - Public health leadership and its application. - Basic knowledge of Legislation which may include but is not limited to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The Treaty of Waitangi Act 1975 - Children, Young Persons, and Their Families Act 1989 - Crimes Act 1961 - Health Act 1956

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - New Zealand Public Health and Disability Act 2000 - Public Health policy and legislation and their impact and significance in a Kaupapa Māori Public Health context.
5	Provide timely and relevant information to enable Māori and whānau to make good decisions that affect their well-being. Credits 15	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The principles of Ngā Manukura. - The principles of community development. - Culturally effective communications to whānau. - Te reo Māori me ngā tikanga.