.....I and my family value health and fairness (1) so my family buys fair trade bananas (3) because they are organic and have no agrichemicals on them. Organic bananas are healthier because they have no chemicals on them and the pay the famers get is a fair wage. We also donate money to charities that work in the third world because we value fairness.

.....All Good Banana Company values the environment and fair trade. (2) Because they value and care about the environment they meet the environmental standards such as using organic fertilisers and sustainable agriculture practices so the farms are improving for future generations. Because they believe in fair trade they are making sure that the famers get a fair wage and a fair say in how the farms are run. (4)

.....Companies like All Good Bananas values and behaviours help make economic and social sustainability by making sure the communities get a fair wage to develop their schools and hospitals. (5)

.....If I keep buying fair trade products with high environmental standards like these then the environmental sustainability will be good because their will be less poisoned streams and more animals surviving. (6)
